

A FATHER TAKES SEVEN LIVES

Fearful Deed of a Starving Chicago Workman.

WIFE, PARENTS. CHILDREN AND SELF DEAD.

Colored Miner, Who Shot a Fellow Working at Dunfermline, Ill., Has a Narrow Escape—Royster Tells Why He Killed McFarland—His Daughter's Despoiler.

Chicago, Feb. 5.—[Special]—Richard Klaatkee, of the Twenty-sixth ward, killed himself, his father, mother, wife and three children early this morning in their cottage on Bertau street. The dead are:

RICHARD KLAATKEE, KATE KLAATKEE, his wife, JOHN KLAATKEE, the murderer's father, WILHELMINA KLAATKEE, his mother, MINA KLAATKEE, his daughter, aged nine years, ANNA KLAATKEE, daughter, aged eight years, EMMA KLAATKEE, daughter, aged seven years.

The awful deed was done by chloroforming.

The victims were then shot to make sure of the work.

Klaatkee was a carpenter and had been out of work for many weeks.

The family had had no food or fire for three days.

The deed was done to end their sufferings.

A howling mob of sympathizers surrounded the place and it is difficult to keep order.

Lewistown, Ill., Feb. 5.—Dunfermline, a small mining town ten miles northwest of here, was the scene of a sensational murder Monday night. Between 8 and 9 o'clock William Woodard, colored, shot and instantly killed Lewis Robinson, also colored. A crowd hastily gathered, attracted by the report of the pistol, and Woodard, becoming alarmed for his life, ran north on the road toward Canton. Hearing his pursuers gaining on him, Woodard changed his course and ran west to St. David's, another small mining town about a mile and a half west of Dunfermline. The news of the murder soon reached St. David's, where City Marshal Jabine found Woodard in hiding. He arrested him and brought him to Lewistown, where he was lodged in the county jail.

Had the mob pursuing Woodard caught him, it would have lynched him, as the men were mostly colored persons laboring under great mental excitement. The mob arrived in Canton and proceeded to search for the murderer. Failing to find him, they concluded to wait for the night trains, and both passenger trains were searched. The members of the mob did not return to their homes until daylight next morning.

The coroner's jury held an inquest over the remains of the murdered man and held Woodard without bail to await the action of the March grand jury. The story told by the murderer differs materially from the above. Woodard claims that Robinson was after him with a knife, and that he shot him in self-defense. He says Robinson came into his house and ran him into the middle of the street before he shot. The evidence taken at the coroner's inquest does not bear out this statement. Quiet has been restored among the miners at Dunfermline, and no further outbreaks are expected.

ROYSER TELLS HIS STORY.

Was Threatened with Death by Wallace McFarland.

Boone, Iowa, Feb. 5.—The evidence in the trial of Stanhope Royster, on the charge of murdering Wallace McFarland, the despoiler of his daughter, was almost all in Tuesday. The daughter since the murder committed suicide in an Omaha hotel. It is probable the case will go to the jury Thursday.

The last witness for the defense was the defendant himself. He told how he came to Boone intent only on getting his daughter; how he went unarmed to McFarland's room, and how McFarland met him with a pistol, cursed and threatened him, and stayed with him or dogged his footsteps for three hours trying to get him to sign a paper exonerating him. McFarland had told him there would be money in it for him, but Royster replied: "Money doesn't count with me in this case. I want my daughter." Finally Royster, who knew his life was in danger, got away long enough to buy a revolver. Then, as McFarland said, "Yes, you can stay in town a week, but you'll stay with me; I'll entertain you," he had made a threatening motion with his concealed hand and Royster shot him. Royster told of the shooting with dramatic effect. He was not confused on cross-examination. His case seems to be helped and it is generally believed he will be acquitted.

Dry Testimony in Keller Trial. Terre Haute, Ind., Feb. 5.—Three doctors and one lawyer furnished the testimony in the Keller-Shanks murder trial Tuesday, and it was uninteresting. It was known it would be a day of expert testimony, but the attendance of women was as large as ever.

DEFALCATION IS BIG.

Half a Million Dollars May Not Cover Barnard's Shortage.

Rome, N. Y., Feb. 5.—There was great excitement among the citizens here when it was learned, from an authoritative source, that the shortage in the Fort Stanwix National bank amounts, up to the present time, to $375,000, and that George Barnard, trusted cashier, ex-mayor, and vestryman of Zion Episcopal church, would be found in debt to the bank personally nearly $75,000.

Bank Examiner Van Vranken will not yet go into the details of the bank's affairs, nor will he either affirm or deny anything in that connection. A complete examination has not been made, and the shortage, as learned today, has been estimated after a partial examination. One of the directors of the bank said that he would not be surprised if the shortage amounted to $500,000, and declared that Barnard's personal shortage might reach $100,000. Barnard committed suicide when his defalcation became known.

SAY MANY WERE KILLED.

Officers of an Indiana Railroad Accused of Suppressing Facts.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 5.—Persons who were at the wreck on the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis railroad at Tanner's creek in Dearborn county Monday declare that seven or eight persons were killed, and that the railroad company is suppressing the information. William Michaels, a laborer out of work, who was in the wreck, made a statement corroborating this. Other reports, coming from visitors to the scene of the wreck, state that at least six or eight lives were lost. Dispatches from Greensburg and Lawrenceburg state that several men have come forward with the charge that several unknown men were killed. The wreck was in a lonely spot and was well cleared away before any one except the railroad employees visited the scene. The company's officers here still insist that but one life was lost.

Michigan State Agricultural Society.

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 5.—The executive committee of the State Agricultural Society has adopted a resolution offering to join the Central Michigan Agricultural Society in deeding the grounds here to the city of Lansing, on condition that the premises be maintained in a condition for fair purposes for ten years, the State society to have the option of holding a fair there each year, and provided, further, that the city agree to pay the State society's Lansing indebtedness, which can be adjusted for $9,000. The committee decided to hold a fair this year, provided its creditors will agree not to interfere with the gate receipts by attachment or otherwise. The fair will doubtless be held at Grand Rapids, where the society scored a success last year.

Should Have Been Satisfied.

Jefferson City, Mo., Feb. 5.—Division No. 2 of the Supreme court has affirmed the sentence of the Buchanan county court in the case of the wife-murderer, Thomas Punshon, and fixed the date of execution at March 13. Punshon's case is peculiar, in that at his first trial he was sentenced to twenty years' imprisonment, but he appealed the case and the decision was reversed and a new trial granted. The last trial resulted as above.

Killed by a Jealous Lover.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 5.—Joe Friedmann, a man of 24, fatally shot his former sweetheart, Julia Celker, wounded her rival and killed himself near the corner of 7th and Olive streets Monday evening. The girl had recently discarded Friedmann for a young man named Hoffman, and the deed was done in a fit of jealousy. Friedmann followed the couple as they left the theater, and shot them down with hardly a warning.

May Furnish a Sensation.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 5.—An ugly scandal at the Soldiers' and Sailors' home at Grand Island may be the result of the removal of Adjutant Howe by Commandant Wilson last Friday. Howe has filed with Governor Holcomb charges of gross mismanagement at the institution. He resists removal and if the governor does not take up his case it is declared he will make sensational disclosures.

Cadwallader's Sentence Commuted.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 5.—President Cleveland has commuted to two years' imprisonment the sentence of Banker A. A. Cadwallader of West Superior, who is now a prisoner in the Milwaukee house of correction. The sentence was originally for a term of five years. He will be released as a result of the President's action on the 5th of next August.

May Abandon Wisconsin State Fair.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 5.—At a meeting of the Wisconsin State Agricultural Society, it was decided to hold no fair in 1897, if it should be decided such an exhibition would interfere with the semi-centennial celebration which it is expected will be held by the State in that year. It was decided to appropriate $16,000 for premiums for the fair to be held in Milwaukee from Sept. 21 to 26, and of the amount over $8,000 will be devoted to horses and cattle.

Oklahoma Farmers' Demands.

Perry, Ok., Feb. 5.—Five hundred democrats of Pawnee county, in mass meeting, have passed strong resolutions for the statehood of Oklahoma and the Indian Territory. They also endorsed President Cleveland's stand on the Venezuelan question, demanded free homes in the Cherokee strip, and free silver at a ratio of 16 to 1.

SENATE IS TALKING OF CUBA'S PLIGHT

SPANISH TROOPS EARN THEIR VICTORY.

The Cuban Insurgents Fight With Desperate Bravery in the Unequal Struggle—Serious Losses on Both Sides—Spanish General Wounded and Borne Away.

Washington, Feb. 5.—[Special]—The senate committee on foreign affairs today reported favorably on a bill recommending the recognition of Cuban rebels as belligerents.

Havana, Feb. 5.—An important engagement has taken place at Consolacion del Sur, east of the city of Pinar del Rio, between the Spanish forces under General Luque and the insurgents under Antonio Maceo. The loss of the insurgents is reported to be sixty-two killed and over two hundred wounded. The loss on the Spanish side is thirty soldiers, according to the report of Spanish officials. General Luque was wounded in the leg at the beginning of the battle. Majors Luis, Lopez and Miralles were seriously injured and Majors Jose, Ruiz and Perez were killed. General Luque was carried to Pinar del Rio after the battle, delivering over the command to Colonel Hernandez.

The battle was fiercely contested and the advantage is claimed to be all on the side of the Spanish as a result. But it is significant that Maceo's forces, instead of being turned back to the westward, proceeded on their way toward Havana province after the battle.

At 5 o'clock Monday morning the Spanish troops had arrived at the farm of Candelara on their way to San Diego de los Banos, but they turned south again toward La Horradura, and, continuing their march, they met the insurgents about 2 o'clock in the afternoon at the town of Paso Real. An attack was immediately opened upon the insurgents in the town. They held their position with the greatest tenacity, making their defense in the village itself from the vantage ground of the houses and the walls of the streets. From this point it was found difficult to dislodge them, though a fire was directed upon them from all sides.

The Spanish formed for a regular and systematic attack, the vanguard of the columns under Col. Hernandez charging their position by the left flank, while the center and rear guard of the Spanish under the direct command of Gen. Luque forced themselves into the central street of the village and attacked by the right flank, charging with vigor and determination.

Seeing their position thus imperiled and themselves in danger of having their retreat cut off the insurgents made a rapid retreat to the extreme western limits of the village, doing some fighting during the retreat. Here they formed their lines for a further stand against the attack of the Spaniards. A volley from the rifles of the troops failed to break the lines of the insurgent forces. They were given a second volley, but still they stood their ground, and even in face of a third volley of rifle bullets they refused to budge an inch and obstinately maintained their formidable line.

The Spanish cavalry was then ordered to charge, and it swept down with great valor upon the devoted band led by Luets, Herra and Berenguer. The insurgents were unable to withstand this onslaught, and their formation was broken and they were put to flight, ten of them being killed with cavalry sabers.

They were pursued by the Spanish cavalry outside the limits of the village, but the pursuers were here met by a force of insurgent cavalry numbering 1,000 and the pursuit was checked. The insurgent cavalry made a stand and met the attack of the Spanish, covering the retreat of their friends and stubbornly refusing to give way in face of the Spanish fire until the Spanish infantry came up.

Meanwhile the Cubans had worked their way into the Culeal Real and once more made a vigorous stand against the onslaught of the Spanish troops. The battalion of San Quintan advanced upon them, but it was only after repeated volleys had been fired into them that their position was taken and the village was in possession of the Spaniards.

The insurgents did not abandon the field, but only fell back before the troops and prepared to make a last stand in a palm grove about three kilometers distant. Here they were charged by the Spaniards. The insurgent cavalry did not await the near approach of the Spaniards, but dashed down the declivity out of the palm grove and charged full upon the Spanish formation with what the official report terms a savage valor. The Spanish infantry, however, stood firm and repulsed the charge with the bayonet. They then in turn themselves made a bayonet charge. The insurgent cavalry retreated, only to form for another charge. The troops were formed in a hollow square to meet this charge. The artillery opened upon the insurgents at a distance of only 150 yards. This last charge was also repulsed, many insurgents being wounded with bayonets, and the insurgents then retired. They took their departure in the direction of Los Palacios to the eastward or toward Havana province. The Spanish then made an investigation of the insurgent's camp and found there sixty-two dead and 130 horses and mules.

BOND BIDS STARTLE THE MOST SANGUINE

BIDS OPENED TODAY AGGREGATE $500,000,000.

Five Times As Many Are Asked For As Will Be Issued—Confidence in the Government Wonderfully Exemplified By the Action of Capitalists.

Washington, Feb. 5.—The bids for $100,000,000 of bonds were opened today. The offers exceed half a billion of dollars.

The treasury Tuesday lost $567,700 in gold coin and $45,500 in bars, leaving the true amount of the gold reserve $47,155,148.

Washington, Feb. 4.—The finance committee of the senate has agreed to report for the tariff bill a substitute providing for the free coinage of silver. The substitute was suggested by Senator Vest and was agreed to by a majority of one. Senator Jones, of Nevada, voting with the democrats for the substitute, and all the republicans present voting against it. Senator Wolcott, of Colorado, was the only republican absentee, and he was recorded as voting against the substitute. Senator Jones, of Arkansas, the only democratic member not present, was recorded as voting for it.

The substitute agreed to is in the exact words of the silver substitute for the bond bill which passed the senate on Saturday. It provides for the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1; directs the immediate coinage into standard dollars of the silver seigniorage in the treasury accumulated by the purchases under the Sherman act; prohibits the issuance of national bank notes of a smaller denomination than $10, and directs the secretary of the smaller denomination than $10 to redeem treasury notes in either gold or silver exclusively, at the option of the secretary, and to reissue greenbacks.

The meeting of the committee did not last to exceed half an hour, and was devoid of especial feature beyond the offering and adoption of the substitute. The republicans brought up the tariff bill and expressed a desire to get it out of committee in some shape. When Senator Vest proposed the silver substitute it was remarked that the senate had already been through one silver fight this session, and the belief was expressed that another contest could avail little or nothing. When, however, the vote was taken and the result known the republicans made no effort to delay the report to the senate.

The bill was reported to the senate by Senator Morrill, chairman of the finance committee. Senator Quay at once followed with a motion to recommend the bill and substitute back to the finance committee, with instructions to report the original bill and amendments separately. Senator Hill called attention to the fact that the motion was irregular during the morning hours, and the presiding officer sustained the point.

Mr. Quay again sought to secure consideration for a resolution committing the tariff-finance bill, with instructions to report the original bill and the amendment as separate propositions. Mr. Quay asked immediate consideration for the resolution, but Mr. Hill again objected and the resolution went over under the rules until today.

STIRRED UP BY RELIGION.

Exciting Debate in the House Over Charitable Institutions.

Washington, Feb. 5.—Mr. Dingley, chairman of the ways and means committee, Tuesday reported back the senate free-coinage substitute for the house bond bill, with the recommendation that the house non-concur and insist on its bill. Mr. Crisp, representing the minority, gave notice that the minority would ask the house to concur. The report will be called up today, and the debate will run for two days, with night sessions.

Some minor business was transacted by unanimous consent. The memorial of the San Francisco chamber of commerce in favor of the speedy completion of the Nicaragua canal was presented to the house by Mr. Loud (rep., Cal.).

The house spent the remainder of the day debating a series of amendments offered by Mr. Hainer (rep., Neb.) to strike from the District of Columbia appropriation bill the appropriation for private and sectarian institutions of charity in the district and place the money proposed to be appropriated for them at the disposal of the board of children's guardians. Much feeling was engendered and at times the debate grew quite exciting. The appropriations for six religious charitable institutions—one Episcopal and five Catholic—were stricken out, but the amendments to strike out the appropriations for the other private institutions, including the Young Woman's Christian home, the Hope and Help mission, etc., were defeated. After the committee of the whole reported the bill to the house separate votes were demanded on all the amendments adopted, and they are first in order today.

Mr. Henderson (rep., Iowa) made an eloquent speech against one of Mr. Hainer's amendments, which frequently evoked applause. Mr. Hainer made an indignant reply to Mr. Henderson. He then moved to put the next appropriation of $5,300 for the maintenance of children at the St. Ann's infant asylum. This was a Catholic institution, and Mr. Bartlett (dem., N. Y.) in opposing the amendment declared that it was the anti-Catholic sentiment—that the spirit of the A. P. A.—that was ruling the deliberations of the house. The debate was prolonged and at times quite exciting. The Hainer motion was adopted—93 to 25.

Mr. Williams (dem., Miss.) then arraigned Mr. Hainer and the majority of the house for the illogical manner in which it had voted to retain some appropriations and had rejected others. Mr. Hainer replied vigorously, and a lively personal debate ensued. Mr. Milnes (rep., Mich.) suddenly put an end to the struggle by moving to adjourn. His motion was carried, 100 to 80, and at 5 o'clock the house adjourned.

PENSION BILL APPROVED.

Amendments of Importance That Have Been Added.

Washington, Feb. 5.—The house committee on invalid pensions has completed the consideration of Representative Pickler's general pension bill. It will be introduced again, with various amendments, and when printed will be at once reported favorably.

The amendments of most importance provide that when fraud is alleged the allegations shall be reduced to writing and be under oath, and that the person affected shall be furnished a certified copy of them. He shall also be provided with the names of the persons bringing the charges, and of the witnesses by whom such charges are to be proved, at least thirty days before the investigation takes place. The limit of income allowed a widow, below which amount she is entitled to a pension, is raised to $300.

The decision of the supreme court that the war of the rebellion terminated Aug. 20, 1866, is made a provision of the bill.

THE BAYARD RESOLUTION.

No Program Yet Arranged for Its Consideration.

Washington, Feb. 5.—No program has been arranged yet for the consideration of the Bayard resolution by the house. Chairman Hitt of the foreign affairs committee will call it up after the bond bill has been disposed of, unless there is an effort to bring forward an appropriation bill, in which event the resolution will be permitted to wait until next week. Mr. Hitt will make a speech upon the resolution, but it can be safely predicted that he will not make any personal attack upon Mr. Bayard, as some of his colleagues are contemplating. Several republican members of the committee will make speeches, and Messrs. Dinsmore, McCreary, Money and other democrats are preparing to defend the ambassador.

Minor Matters in the Senate.

Washington, Feb. 4.—Among bills favorably reported to senate Tuesday were those granting a pension of $200 a month to the widow of the late General Walter Q. Gresham, and $100 a month to the widow of the late Thomas Ewing. Senator Allison reported back the pension appropriation bill and said he would ask the senate to take it up at an early day.

Senator Hoar reported back the bill prohibiting the desecration of the American flag. He said he did this merely to get the subject before the senate, as he doubted the admissibility of such prohibition, and believed it should be left to individual good taste and judgment.

Debs Resolution Substitute.

Washington, Feb. 4.—Senator Hill, from the senate committee on judiciary has reported from that committee a substitute for the resolution providing for a special committee to inquire into the imprisonment of Eugene V. Debs. The substitute directs the judiciary committee to make the investigation, but makes it general. The committee is to investigate the law upon which the whole subject of contempt of court as enforced by the federal courts, and report to the senate whether any additional legislation is necessary for the protection of the rights of citizens, and if so to report such legislation.

President Has Chosen Uhl.

Washington, Feb. 5.—The president has made his choice for a successor to the late Mr. Runyon as ambassador to Germany, and there is every reason to believe that Assistant Secretary Uhl of the state department will be named for the post this week, probably today. It is thought that but for some delay incident to formalities in such cases the nomination would have been sent to the senate yesterday.

Will Designate an Arbitrator.

Bern, Feb. 5.—The Federal Council has authorized the president of the Swiss republic to accept the proposal tendered by the governments of Great Britain and the United States that, in the event of a disagreement as to the choice of an arbitrator for the Canadian sealers' claims, the president of Switzerland shall designate an arbitrator.

Indiana Strike Settled.

Lebanon, Ind., Feb. 5.—The strike of the Chicago and Northwestern railway shopmen is practically ended. President Crawford passed over the road with the pay car Tuesday and adjusted the grievances of the men, all of whom, excepting three, went back to work. All trains are running on time.

Campes Hissed at Madrid.

Madrid, Feb. 5.—Martinez de Campos has arrived here. The crowd in the streets hissed him on his arrival.

PLANNED A WRECK TO GAIN PLUNDER

HORRIBLE ACCIDENT BARELY AVERTED AT WAUPACA.

Two Nineteen Year Old Boys Had Everything Fixed to Send a Passenger Train Over a Bluff Sixty Feet High So They Could Rob Dead Passengers.

Waupaca, Feb. 5.—A dastardly attempt was made to wreck a Wisconsin Central passenger train near this city. A large switch point was placed across the track at the point where the train had to pass a high bluff, and where the cars would have rolled down a ditch sixty feet. Luckily a freight train with a heavy Mogul engine passed over first and brushed the obstruction off the track without damage to the engine. Had it been a passenger engine the train would have been derailed. Claim Agent Carkeek and Agent Wheelock are investigating the case, and have arrested John and William McCunn, who after being taken before a justice confessed their guilt and signed papers to that effect. They said they wanted to wreck the train that they might rob the passengers. They were taken to Stevens Point where they will be held for trial. Both young men are about nineteen years of age victims of the dime novel habit.

NATIONAL FARMERS' ALLIANCE

Important Meeting of Agriculturists Being Held at Washington.

Washington, Feb. 4.—The National Farmers' Alliance and Industrial union met Tuesday at the National hotel. Each state is entitled to from one to two delegates and nearly every state is fully represented. J. F. Willets of Kansas is president of the alliance and D. P. Duncan of South Carolina secretary.

While the leaders of the alliance have long held that the organization is non-political, it is understood great pressure is being brought to bear to have resolutions adopted which will bring the alliance as a body into the financial fight, arraying the order on the silver side. It is claimed by delegates that the alliance is stronger than ever before in its history. It is in fine shape financially as well as in numerical strength.

While the sessions are conducted behind closed doors, and the delegates are instructed to maintain secrecy, many of the delegates are known to favor joining forces in the coming elections with an independent party made up of the silverites and the populists. They say the farmers of the country should vote so as best to support the principles of the alliance, with the government issue of currency as the "keystone of the faith," and free silver next.

Iowa May Have a Special Session.

Des Moines, Iowa, Feb. 5.—The senate committee on ways and means has decided to report an amendment to the revenue laws of the state, limiting the possible state levy of taxes to 2½ mills. It is also provided that the property shall be assessed at 50 per cent of its value, whereas now 25 per cent is the average assessed valuation in Iowa. It is the belief that an increased assessment will so lower the necessary tax levy that there will never be occasion to exceed 2½ mills. The appearances indicate that an extra session of the legislature will be held. There is dissatisfaction with the work of the code commission. It is said to have written new laws instead of codifying those already on the statute books. It is therefore opposed by lawyers and legislators alike.

The St. Paul in Deep Water.

New York, Feb. 5.—The steamer St. Paul of the International Navigation Company's line, which went ashore on the sand bar off Long Branch a week ago last Saturday, was towed into deep water at 9:20 o'clock Tuesday. The four tugs of the Merritt and Chapman wrecking companies succeeded, with the aid of hedge anchors, in getting the St. Paul from the bar. Fifty minutes later the vessel passed the Atlantic highlands, bound for New York, under her own steam.

Want More Economy.

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 5.—The second annual meeting of the State Association of Farmers' Clubs is being held here. The attendance is large. The matter to be discussed is that of taxation, the members generally believing that the time has arrived when self-preservation demands that some change looking to greater economy in the matter of State, county and township expenditures must be adopted. They demand that only absolutely necessary expenditures be made.

Killed in a Railroad Wreck.

Edwardsville, Ill., Feb. 5.—One man was killed and two seriously injured in a wreck on the Wabash five miles east of here Tuesday. The dead: HUFF, CHARLES, brakeman. The injured: Hardgrove, engineer; leg broken. J. May, brakeman; leg crushed.

Two freight trains collided at Carpenter station, causing a serious wreck.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY.

1722—John Witherspoon, "signer," born in Haddingtonshire, Scotland; died 1784.
1725—James Otis, patriotic orator and writer, born at West Barnstable, Mass.; killed by lightning May 23, 1783.
1833—Holdingford, a factory village in the West Riding of Yorkshire, England, swept away by the bursting of a reservoir; 100 people perished. Soon after midnight the embankment of Bilberry reservoir, 150 yards long and 90 feet in height, gave way, and the whole mass of pent up water, 50 feet in depth, rushed down the gorge in one solid column. Mills, dyehouses, walls, cottages, barns and stables went down before the flood. The gorge was devastated for five miles.
1856—False alarm of fire in the Cincinnati Opera House resulted in the death of 11 people in the panic; 30 injured.
1887—The White River Junction disaster on the Boston and Montreal road; 2 sleepers containing 80 passengers hurled from a bridge and burned on the ice below. About 40 escaped death, but were seriously injured.

IN NAMING DELEGATES.

Before long the republicans of the state will name delegates to the presidential convention. They should choose delegates carefully and make sure that their will and not the will of two or three wire pullers is to be expressed. Another thing, one that should be born in mind when instructing delegates and in local campaigns as well, is that no party can nominate men for office merely on account of its appreciation of their abilities or its obligation for their services. They are only individuals with whom it has a right to deal as it shall think most conducive to its own welfare. The principal object of its existence is success and success depends largely upon wisdom in the selection of candidates who will suit the people. It cannot hope to win with a man who is unpopular for any reason, however capable and deserving he may be; and when it puts such a man aside and takes one who can be expected to poll more votes, it does only what is dictated by prudence and common sense. That is what political availability means; and it is a consideration not to be disregarded by any party that wishes to prosper and to gain the ends for which it is striving. It is to be lamented, of course, that this often leads to what looks like ingratitude, but all those who enter politics take such a chance of misfortune. The fact of first importance is that a party must choose its candidates judiciously, or it might as well not choose them at all. It is a practical and not a sentimental question.

MANY LIVES IN DANGER.

Fire in a Large Insane Asylum Near Quebec, Can.

Quebec, Feb. 5.—Fire broke out Tuesday morning in the Beaufort Insane asylum. The flames originated in an out-building and spread to the west end of the main structure. The Beaufort asylum is eight miles east of this city and has about one thousand inmates and attendants. It is managed by the Gray nuns.

The report of the fire caused great excitement in this city. A battalion of the Quebec fire brigade and "B" battery, regular artillery, started for the scene. The local fire company, however, had the flames under control before the arrival of the re-enforcements from this city. There were about six hundred patients in the wards threatened by the flames. It is reported that six escaped in the confusion. All the rest were removed to places of safety without injury.

A Wayward Father.
"What is the matter, Johnny?" asked a Texas widower of his little son.
"You are not acting right, father. You are not behaving as a father should. You have secrets."
"What have I done, Johnny?"
"You have engaged yourself to Miss Jones, without consulting me. I had already picked out a wife for you, but as you make your bed so you must lie in it. All I can say is that a wayward father is apt to make a bad husband."—Texas Siftings.

Rather Vindictive.
Old Boy—How's this? I hear that you consented to the marriage of your daughter with young Seekem.
Friend (sullenly)—Yes, I had to, but never mind, just wait. I'll get even with him.
"Eh? Will you disinherit her?"
"Worse! I'll give her a concert grand piano for a wedding present."—N. Y. Weekly.

Then and Now.
And so they wed. Unhappy knot!
He's burdened with distress;
He knows now what a fearful lot
It takes to make a dress.
But he, poor man! how could he know,
While wooing by the sea,
Since there was little there to show
Such things would ever be.
—L. A. W. Bulletin.

THE PITY OF IT.

Fond Parent—That child is full of music.
Sarcastic Visitor—Yes. What a pity it's allowed to escape.—Collier's Weekly.

What They Talk About.
Mrs. Yerger—Matilda, you and Mrs. Peterby's servants are always talking together. What do you find to talk about?
Matilda Snowball—We was just amusin' ourselves, jess de same as you and Mrs. Peterby does, except dat you talk about the servants and we talk about our employers.—Texas Siftings.

One Way of Getting Even.
"You know that dollar that Hardy owed me?"
"Yes."
"I got it out of him at last."
"Is it possible?"
"Yes; sent him a package of brickbats by express with one dollar due on it."—Chicago Record.

A Changed Man.
When Brown first wed, he told of what "I" did or was to do;
The "I" was changed into a "We" in just a year or two.
And after that throughout the rest of his poor henpecked life,
He lost his own identity and talked about "my wife."
—L. A. W. Bulletin.

Man's Inconstancy.
May—Clara feels very much hurt about Mr. Robinson's engagement. You know he paid her marked attentions.
Alice—Did he?
May—Yes. She refused him three times, and each time he said he could never love another.—Brooklyn Life.

A Modest Beggar.
A beggar stopped a lady on the steps of a church. "Kind lady, have you not a pair of old shoes to give me?"
"No, I have not; besides, those you are now wearing seem to be brand new."
"That's just it, ma'am—they spoil my business."—La Riforma.

"She is indeed; she won't even touch a buckwheat cake unless it is turned black around the edges."—Chicago Record.

A Hasty Remark.
Merchant—What do you mean by using such language? Are you the boss here, or am I the boss?
Clerk—I know I'm not the boss.
Merchant—Then if you are not the boss, why do you talk like a blamed fool?—Texas Siftings.

Playwright—I've got a comic opera here with an absolutely original idea.
Manager—What is it?
Playwright—There isn't a single reference to bloomers in it. — N. Y. Recorder.

Taddells—Well, McBride, you are a father, eh?
McBride (cheerfully)—Yes.
Taddells—Boy or girl?
McBride (sadly)—Both.—Bay City Chat.

How They Struck Him.
Hortense—Oh, just look at those two red noses! What do they put you in mind of?
Van Jay—A pair of bloomers.—N. Y. Recorder.

Truly Wonderful.
"My husband and I had a singular coincidence in our lives."
"What was it?"
"We got married at the same time."
—Truth.

A Melancholy Estimate.
Success is a toboggan slide;
It's mighty slippery, brother,
You scarcely reach one end before
You're hustling for the other.
—Washington Star.

JOINT DONATION A SUCCESS.

First M. E. Church People Express Their Good Will to Pastors.

Rev. K. K. Manaton has no cause to feel that he is unwelcome. People of the First M. E. church crowded the church parlors last night and extended the warmest of greetings to him, beside making a liberal donation.

Supper was served by the ladies of the church from 5 to 8 o'clock, and a literary and musical program followed. The First Ward Zither club, the Y. M. C. A. quartette and Archie Crawford furnished music, and there were readings by Miss Lucy Hanson and Miss Newell.

Presiding Elder Pease introduced Rev. Mr. Manaton, in a brief address full of good points. Mr. Manaton was not behind the presiding elder in quickness of wit and kept his hearers in good humor. Rev. Mr. Porter was unable to be present, but Rev. Mr. Peterson of Milwaukee, spoke of his appointment and eulogized the new presiding elder for his plucky, energy and unselfishness.

He Was Derided.
It is not expedient in carrying on conversation with colored persons to use words that are not clearly within the range of their comprehension. An Austin waiter told a Boston man at a hotel that in eastern Texas a white man had married a negro woman.
"Was he not derided?" asked the Bostonian.
"He was, sah. Dey rided him out ob town on a rail."—Texas Siftings.

Still Thinks So.
"You used to say you thought Heaven sent me to you," she said tearfully after a little family jar.
"I see no reason to change my mind about that now," he returned.
"Really!" she exclaimed delightedly.
"Certainly," he replied. Then he spoiled it all by adding: "As a punishment."—Chicago Post.

The Difference.
Mrs. Suburb—What is this, a tenement house?
Mrs. De Platte—Indeed it isn't. It's an apartment-house.
"What's the difference?"
"All the difference in the world. In a tenement-house you rent rooms, and in an apartment-house you lease apartments."—N. Y. Weekly.

A Bad Sign.
Powers—I thought of joining the Early Hours club, but I'm afraid it's a slow concern.
Powers—What makes you think so?
Powers—I know half-a-dozen of the members intimately, and I never heard any of their wives say a word against the club.—Puck.

Very Young.
Mrs. Endicott Bean (of Boston)—Those people who have just moved next door have a child.
Mr. Endicott Bean—Well, I hope it is no young child!
Mrs. Endicott—You will be disappointed. Why, it hasn't got its first glasses yet!—Puck.

Safely Stored.
"Earthly riches do not trouble me," said the sad-eyed man. "What is better, I have a treasure laid up in Heaven."
"Just like my Aunt Maria," replied Roundface; "she was forever hiding things away where she never could find them again."—Boston Transcript.

A Truthful Prospectus.
Stapleton—When I invested in that Colorado mine the prospectus promised us "wealth beyond the dreams of avarice."
Caldecott—Did it turn out so?
Stapleton—Oh, yes. The wealth is quite beyond 'em.—Day City Chat.

Could, But Didn't.
"Browne is a most considerate fellow."
"Why do you think so?"
"He can play the fiddle."
"Can he? I never heard him."
"That's just it—nobody else ever did!"—Chicago Record.

Cheerfully Given.
Jones—I think it's a terrible thing to have you give people hush money.
Brown—I don't; I give it to my wife every day.
Jones—What for?
Brown—to buy the baby paregoric.
—Truth.

In Legal Terms.
She—Do you make love to every girl you know as you do to me?
Young Lawyer—My dear young lady, you should not ask a question that would tend to incriminate the witness.
—Washington Star.

May Be Boston.
He pressed a kiss upon her lips;
A burning kiss. It froze.
The maiden was a native of
What city, you suppose?
—Indianapolis Journal.

FITTING HIMSELF FOR IT.
"Yes, grandma, when I graduate I intend following a literary career. Write for money, you know."
"Why, Willie, my dear, you haven't done anything else since you've been at college."—Life.

Her Point of View.
Mistress (who had given her maid a ticket for the theater)—Well, how did you like the performance, Alma?
Alma—Oh, it was splendid, ma'am. You should have heard how a servant girl sauced her missis!—Bates Allerici.

A Matter of Transportation.
Aspirant—Now, would you not advise me to go on the stage?
Manager—No; take the limited; it will get you home quicker.—Texas Siftings.

Not Strange.
Baker—He calls on some of the best people and yet does not move in society.
Miller—Isn't that very strange?
Baker—No. He is a doctor.—Bay City Chat.

The Rivals.
Mr. Richfello—Miss De Slimm is evidently a woman of many fine points.
Rival Belle—I should say so. Did you see her elbows?—N. Y. Weekly.

A Give Away.
He—I wonder if that chair is big enough for two?
She (inadvertently)—Oh! yes; know it is.—Life.

An Exception.
They say all's fair in love or war, But yet,
I know my love's decidedly Brunette.
—N. Y. Recorder.

THE SWEETEST THING.

La mod has never meant much to men.
Not chivalry do I own its
Vagaries, but I vow I've seen
The sweetest thing in bonnets.

Describe it? Ah, that calls for what
I haven't—genius! Dimming
The roses round its tresses beyond
My poor pen's power of limning.

Such form and color! Tithon's blush
At best could never show 'em.
Then why should I essay in words
A picture and a poem?

Yet, for the milliner, among
My memories no place is!
The sweetest thing in bonnets now?
Why, Dolly's flowerlike face is!

KIDNAPED.

We are a high caste and enlightened race, and infant marriage is very shocking and the consequences are sometimes peculiar, but, nevertheless, the Hindoo notion—which is the continental notion, which is the aboriginal notion—of arranging marriages irrespective of the personal inclinations of the married is sound. Think for a minute, and you will see that it must be so; unless, of course, you believe in "affinities"—in which case you had better not read this tale. How can a man who has never married; who cannot be trusted to pick up at sight a moderately sound horse; whose head is hot and upset with visions of domestic felicity, go about the choosing of a wife? He cannot see straight or think straight if he tries, and the same disadvantages exist in the case of a girl's fancies. But when mature, married and discreet people arrange a match between a boy and a girl, they do it sensibly, with a view to the future.

Properly speaking, government should establish a matrimonial department, efficiently officered, with a jury of matrons, a judge of the chief court, a senior chaplain and an awful warning in the shape of a love match that has gone wrong chained to the trees in the courtyard. All marriages should be made through the department, which might be subordinate to the educational department, under the same penalty as that attaching to the transfer of land without a stamped document. But government won't take suggestions. It pretends that it is too busy. However, I will put my notion on record, and explain the example that illustrates the theory.

Once upon a time there was a good young man—a first class officer in his own department—a man with a career before him and, possibly, a K. C. I. E. at the end of it. All his superiors spoke well of him, because he knew how to hold his tongue and his pen at the proper times. There are today only 11 men in India who possess this secret, and they have all, with one exception, attained great honor and enormous incomes.

This good young man was quiet and self-contained, too old for his years by far—which always carries its own punishment. Had a subaltern, or a tea planter's assistant, or anybody who enjoys life and has no care for tomorrow done what he tried to do not a soul would have cared. But when Peythroppe—the estimable, virtuous, economical, quiet, hard working, young Peythroppe—fell, there was a flutter through five departments.

The manner of his fall was in this way: He met a Miss Castries—D'Castries it was originally, but the family dropped the D' for administrative reasons—and he fell in love with her even more energetically than he worked. Understand clearly that there was not a breath of a word to be said against Miss Castries—not a shadow of a breath. She was good and very lovely—possessed what innocent people at home call a "Spanish" complexion, with thick blue black hair growing low down on the forehead into a "widow's peak" and big violet eyes under eyebrows as black and as straight as the borders of a "gazette extraordinary" when a big man dies. But—but—but—Well, she was a very sweet girl and very poised, but for many reasons she was "impossible." Quite so. All good mammas know what "impossible" means. It was obviously absurd that Peythroppe should marry her. The little opal tinted onyx at the base of her finger nails said this as plainly as print. Further, marriage with Miss Castries meant marriage with several other Castries—Honorary Lieutenant Castries, her papa, Mrs. Eulalie Castries, her mamma, and all the ramifications of the Castries family, on incomes ranging from 175 to 470 rupees a month, and their wives and connections again.

It would have been cheaper for Peythroppe to have assaulted a commissioner with a dog whip, or to have burned the records of a deputy commissioner's office, than to have contracted an alliance with the Castries. It would have weighed his after career less—even under a government which never forgets and never forgives. Everybody saw this but Peythroppe. He was going to marry Miss Castries, he was—being of age and drawing a good income—and woe betide the house that would not afterward receive Mrs. Virginia Saulez Peythroppe with the deference due to her husband's rank. That was Peythroppe's ultimatum, and any remonstrance drove him frantic.

These sudden madnesses most afflict the sanest men. There was a case once—but I will tell you of that later on. You cannot account for the mania except under a theory directly contradicting the one about the place wherein marriages are made. Peythroppe was burning anxious to put a millstone round his neck at the outset of his career, and argument had not the least effect on him. He was going to marry Miss Castries, and the business was his own business. He would thank you to keep your advice to yourself. With a man in this condition, mere words only fix him in his purpose. Of course he cannot see that marriage out here does not concern the individual, but the government the serves. Do you remember Mrs. Hanksbee, the most wonderful woman in India? She saved Pluffles from Mrs. Reiver, won Tarrion his appointment in the foreign office and was defeated in open field by Mrs. Cusack-Bremmil. She heard of the lamentable condition of Peythroppe, and her brain struck out the plan that saved him. She had the wisdom of the serpent, the logical coherence of the man, the fearlessness of the child and the triple intuition of the woman. Never—no, never—as long as a tonga buckets down the Solon dip or the couples go a-riding at the back of Summer Hill will there be such a genius as Mrs. Hanksbee. She attended the consultation of three men on Peythroppe's case, and she stood up with the lash of her riding whip between her lips and spake.

Three weeks later Peythroppe dined with the three men, and The Gazette of India came in. Peythroppe found to his surprise that he had been gazetted a month's leave. Don't ask me how this was managed. I believe firmly that, if Mrs. Hanksbee gave the order, the whole great Indian administration would stand on its head. The three men had also a month's leave each. Peythroppe put The Gazette down and said bad words. Then there came from the compound the soft "pad-pad" of camels—"thieves' camels," the Bikaner breed that don't bubble and howl when they sit down and get up.

After that, I don't know what happened. This much is certain—Peythroppe disappeared—vanished like smoke—and the long foot rest chair in the house of the three men was broken to splinters; also a bedstead departed from one of the bedrooms.

Mrs. Hanksbee said that Mr. Peythroppe was shooting in Rajputana with the three men; so we were compelled to believe her.

At the end of the month, Peythroppe was gazetted 20 days' extension of leave, but there was wrath and lamentation in the house of Castries. The marriage day had been fixed, but the bridegroom never came, and the D'Silvas, Pereiras and Ducketts lifted their voices and mocked Honorary Lieutenant Castries as one who had been basely imposed upon. Mrs. Hanksbee went to the wedding and was much astonished when Peythroppe did not appear. After seven weeks, Peythroppe and the three men returned from Rajputana. Peythroppe was in hard, tough condition, rather white and more self-contained than ever.

One of the three men had a cut on his nose, caused by the kick of a gun. Twelve bores kick rather curiously.

Then came Honorary Lieutenant Castries, seeking for the blood of his perfidious son-in-law to be. He said things—vulgar and "impossible" things—which showed the raw, rough "ranker" below the "honorary," and I fancy Peythroppe's eyes were opened. Anyhow, he held his peace till the end, when he spoke briefly. Honorary Lieutenant Castries asked for a "peg" before he went away to die or bring a suit for breach of promise.

Miss Castries was a very good girl. She said that she would have no breach of promise suits. She said that if she was not a lady she was refined enough to know that ladies kept their broken hearts to themselves, and, as she ruled her parents, nothing happened. Later on, she married a most respectable and gentlemanly person. He traveled for an enterprising firm in Calcutta and was all that a good husband should be.

So Peythroppe came to his right mind again and did much good work and was honored by all who knew him. One of these days he will marry, but he will marry a sweet pink and white maiden, on the government house list, with a little money and some influential connections, as every wise man should. And he will never, all his life, tell her what happened during the seven weeks of his shooting tour in Rajputana.

But just think how much trouble and expense—for camel hire is not cheap, and those Bikaner brutes had to be fed like humans—might have been saved by a properly conducted matrimonial department, under the control of the director general of education, but corresponding direct with the viceroy.—Rudyard Kipling.

The Man, the Cow and the Elk.

While a freight train was lying at a small mountain station in Montana the engineer borrowed a shotgun and started out for a hunt. He was about starting to return to his train when a cow made her appearance. Before he realized that there was any danger the animal made a rush at him, and he ran with all his speed. But the cow was a better racer, and in a few minutes caught him by the clothing, splitting his coat from waist to collar and tossing him into the air. Getting to his feet as quickly as possible, he dodged behind a tree, and then, to his dismay, found that the gun barrel was bent so as to be useless.

The next ten minutes were very lively ones. The cow chased the engineer round and round the tree, and when he got a chance to hit her with the gun barrel it only seemed to enrage her the more. It was only a question of time when he would succumb to fatigue, when a diversion occurred which saved his life. An angry snort was heard, and a big elk appeared upon the scene, head down and prepared for a fight. The cow was so mad by this time that she was ready for anything, and in another moment the two animals dashed at each other. The engineer watched the combat for a few minutes, until prudence suggested that he should make a retreat in safety. He never knew the outcome of the battle, but the presumption is that the elk was the victor.—Bozeman (Mon.) Avant Courier.

A Tight Ring.

To remove a tight ring from the finger take a long thread of silk and put one end under the ring and draw it through several inches, holding it with the thumb in the palm of the hand. Then wind the long end of the silk tightly round the finger down to the nail. Take hold of the short end of the silk, and, holding it toward the finger end, unwind it, and the silk pressing against the ring will withdraw it.—New York Sun.

The Protection Policy Applied to a Great Janesville Clothing House....

Boiled down, this is it---to create the greatest value for the least money. It's easy to sell at the average price. We're doing a great deal better now than selling $10.00 Suits for $10.00. We are selling what have been known as ten and twelve dollar suits for many a day for $6.00 and $7.50. You'll be told it can't be. All we say is: There's a host of people who have had them and selling a dozen to twenty a day is a common occurrence even during these dull days.

The Best Speech Makers and Advertisements We Have Today are the Satisfied Wearers of These...

Bring 'em back if they are not satisfactory. THAT'S OUR PROTECTION TO YOU. Bring 'em back for your money. Our best $18, $20 and $25 Suits and Overcoats at exact cost to us if you want them. The season is advancing but it would seem it would pay you to buy a heavy Suit or Overcoat and lay it aside for next winter. Don't be tempted to buy poor clothes. You are easily fooled if you do. What is there about poor stuff that you like so much? You can see with your own eyes the such clothes don't fit. You can feel with your own hands that they're made of base material. Is it that price? They are more expensive than good clothes. The only thing we can think of is that you buy poor clothes just to be stubborn and nothing else.
